

Did you know?

Aquastor was the first ever company to offer water storage bladder rental in 2016. As creators of this industry, they established themselves as market leaders with a reputation for reliability, dependability and customer service. In February 2023 the company was crippled by the theft of 19 water storage bladders from their storage facilities, leaving only the storage bladders that were on customer sites at the time. Most of these stolen bladders are still out there (serial numbers and SAPS Case Nr available on request), but the company is rebuilding to regain its position of market leadership, dependability and customer service. We are looking forward to be of service to you.
